"OLD-AGE PENSION ACT."

PURSUANT to the provisions of section 3 of the "Old-age Pension Act," being chapter 208 of the "Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1936," His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council has been pleased to make the following regulations, and to rescind the regulations made by Order in Council No. 1579, approved the 31st day of December, 1937:—

PART I.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

Short Title.

1. These regulations may be cited as The Old-age Pensions Regulations.

Interpretation.

2. (1.) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires:—

- (a.) "Act" means the "Old Age Pensions Act";
- (b.) "Application" means application for a pension in the form prescribed by the pension authority and as required by these regulations;
- (c.) "Applicant" means a person who is resident in Canada and who makes application for a pension, and who, in the case of an applicant for an old-age pension, alleges that he has reached the age of sixty-nine years and six months, or, in the case of an applicant for a pension in respect of blindness, alleges that he has reached the age of thirty-nine years and six months and that he is blind;
- (d.) "Lodge" means to be present in person;
- (e.) "Minister" means the Minister charged with the administration of the Act;
- (f.) "Self-contained domestic establishment" means a dwelling-house, apartment, or other place of residence in which the applicant or his dependant ordinarily sleeps and has his meals, and which contains at least one bedroom;
- (g.) "Widower" or "widow" includes a divorced person and a married person, who, in the opinion of the pension authority, is living separate and apart from his or her spouse.

(2.) The expressions "widower" or "widow," for the purpose of the Act, shall have the same meaning as in these regulations.

Provision as to Notices.

3. (1.) Any notice or other document required or authorized to be sent or delivered for the purpose of these regulations shall be in writing.

(2.) Any notice or other document required or authorized to be sent or delivered to any person by the pension authority for the purpose of these regulations shall be deemed to be duly sent or delivered at the time at which the notice or document is posted to that person at his ordinary address.

Application.

4. (1.) Application shall be made by delivering or mailing to the pension authority, or person authorized by the pension authority to receive applications, an application completed by the applicant or, where the pension authority is satisfied that the applicant is unable to complete the application on account of physical infirmity or mental illness or for any other valid reason, completed by some responsible person on behalf of the applicant.

(2.) Without restricting the right of the pension authority to prescribe the form or contents of an application, an application shall state:—

- (a.) The full name of the applicant, including, in the case of a married woman, her full maiden name and, in the case of an applicant who has changed his name, the name before such change was made;
- (b.) The present address of the applicant, place and date of birth (including the place and date of birth of the spouse), and place or places of residence during the twenty years preceding the date of application;
- (c.) Particulars as to the sex and marital status of the applicant, including, in the case of an applicant who is married, whether such applicant is living with his or her spouse;
- (d.) Occupation, income, and means of subsistence of the applicant and spouse;
- (e.) Nationality (including nationality of spouse) and, if naturalized, the date of naturalization; and
- (f.) Particulars of any real or personal property owned by the applicant or spouse at the date of application, and particulars of any personal property exceeding the total value of five hundred dollars and of any real property which the applicant or spouse transferred to any person or persons within the five years preceding the date of application.

(3.) The application shall be supported by a statutory declaration of the applicant or person making application on behalf of the applicant to the effect that all the statements in the application are true to the best of his knowledge and belief and that no information required to be given has been concealed or omitted.

(4.) Every pension authority shall supply, without charge, a form of application to any person who desires to make the application and, if so requested, shall give all information and assistance in completing the application; such form of application shall include a quotation of subsections (5) and (6) of this section.

(5.) No person shall knowingly obtain or receive a pension that is not, under the Act and these regulations, authorized to obtain or receive, and no person shall knowingly aid or abet another person to obtain or receive a pension that such other person is not under the Act and these regulations authorized to obtain or receive.

(6.) Every person who violates subsection (5) of this section is guilty of an offence and liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

Investigation of Claims.

5. (1.) The pension authority shall, in respect of each application, cause an investigation to be made into the facts and circumstances as therein set out and such other matters as may be necessary to determine the eligibility of the applicant for a pension, and, if the applicant is so eligible and such investigation was made not sooner than three months before the date of the proposed commencement of the pension, shall determine the rate of pension payable and shall thereupon approve the application accordingly.

(2.) Where an application has been so approved and a pension is being paid, the pension authority shall, each year during the lifetime of the pensioner, cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the pensioner and the use to which the pension is being put to determine whether such pensioner continues to be eligible for pension and the amount thereof.

(3.) Before altering the rate of pension being paid to the pensioner or before suspending or reinstating a pension which has been suspended, the pension authority shall cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the pensioner; provided that in any individual case the pension authority may, in lieu of such investigation, make such inquiry and obtain such information as it deems adequate.

(4.) The reports of any investigation shall be filed with the application and shall be available at any time for inspection by officials of the Government of Canada.

(5.) An investigation required by this section shall be made by an investigator in the employ of the pension authority or the Provincial Government or by any other agency recommended by the pension authority and approved by the Minister, and such investigator or a representative of such agency shall, in the course of such investigation, personally interview the applicant or pensioner, as the case may be.

(6.) All applications and accompanying documents received by any person other than the pension authority shall be forwarded to the pension authority, and no person other than the pension authority shall have the power to approve or reject any application or to alter the rate of pension.

Age.

6. (1.) For the purpose of enabling the pension authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards age, the applicant shall forward to the pension authority a certificate of birth or of baptism, or, if neither certificate is obtainable, shall forward any other documentary evidence that he may have or be able to obtain from which his age may be determined.

(2.) If the pension authority is satisfied that the applicant is unable to furnish satisfactory evidence as to his age as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the pension authority shall endeavour to obtain information from other sources, and, in the case of an applicant who alleges that he was born in Canada, the pension authority shall, if records for the period in question are available in the Province where he alleges he was born, first request the Registrar of Vital Statistics in that Province to make a search for information as to his age.

(3.) If the pension authority is unable to obtain information as provided in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, it shall request the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to make a search of the census records for information as to the age of the applicant, subject to the following:—

(a.) A request for census information by a pension authority shall be made with the consent in writing of the person regarding whom the information is required:

(b.) The specific locality (city, town, village, township, or rural municipality) in which the applicant resided at the date of the census aforesaid shall be stated in the request; and

(c.) Any information supplied by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shall be confidential and shall not be used for any other purpose than that of the administration of the Act.

(4.) If, after thorough search and inquiry, the pension authority is unable to obtain from the applicant, or elsewhere, sufficient evidence as to his age in accordance with subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section, it may take into account such evidence as it may be able to obtain for the purpose of establishing the age of the applicant.

(5.) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the pension authority shall not be bound to accept any document or evidence as final and conclusive of the facts therein given or contained, and any document or evidence submitted to or obtained by the pension authority as proof of age shall be rebuttable at any time.

Marital Status.

7. For the purpose of enabling the pension authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards marital status, the pension authority may accept a certificate of marriage or, if no such certificate is procurable, such other evidence as it deems satisfactory as proof of the marriage.

Nationality.

8. (1.) For the purpose of enabling the pension authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards nationality, the pension authority may take into account any of the following documents:—

(a.) Certificate of birth:

(b.) Certificate of baptism; and

(c.) Certificate of naturalization.

(2.) When better evidence cannot be obtained, a certificate of service in any of His Majesty's forces or a statutory declaration or evidence under oath by any reliable and disinterested person, other than the applicant, who has knowledge of the fact may be used as corroborative evidence of the nationality of the applicant.

(3.) The pension authority shall not be bound to accept any of the certificates or other documents mentioned in this section as satisfactory proof of the nationality of any applicant and may accept other evidence which it considers to be satisfactory as proof of nationality.

9. Every pension authority shall be entitled to obtain, without charge, from the Department of the Secretary of State or any other Department of the Government of Canada any information available in such Department as to the nationality of any applicant or pensioner.

Residence.

10. For the purpose of enabling the pension authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards residence in Canada or in a Province, the pension authority may take into account, together with any other evidence that it may be able to obtain, a statutory declaration made by any reliable and disinterested person, other than the applicant, covering such facts as such person may have personal knowledge.

11. An applicant shall be deemed to have been resident in Canada for the twenty years immediately preceding the date of the proposed commencement of pension only:—

(a.) If he has actually lodged within Canada for five thousand eight hundred and forty-four days within the said twenty years or since attaining the age of fifty years in the case of an applicant for an old-age pension, or since attaining the age of twenty years in the case of an applicant for a pension in respect of blindness; and

(b.) If he has actually lodged within Canada on at least seven hundred days within the last three years immediately preceding the date of the proposed commencement of pension; and

(c.) If he has resided within Canada some time at least twenty years prior to making application.

12. An applicant shall be deemed to have had five years' residence in a Province if he has lodged in such Province for at least seven hundred days within the five years immediately preceding the date of the proposed commencement of the pension, and he shall be presumed to be residing in such Province at the time application is made, notwithstanding that he is then in fact residing either permanently or temporarily in another Province.

13. An applicant, who has been absent from Canada within the limits permitted by section 11 of these regulations, shall be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to have continued to reside during such absence in the Province in which he resided immediately prior to leaving Canada.

14. For the purpose of sections 11, 12, and 13 of these regulations, where the applicant has been temporarily absent from Canada in any one calendar year, thirty days of such temporary absence shall be counted as residence in Canada if such applicant has lodged in Canada for at least six months of such year.

15. (1.) If an applicant, while a resident of Canada, has temporarily absented himself therefrom for the purpose of engaging in:—

- (a.) Employment on a ship registered at or sailing regularly from any Canadian port;
- (b.) Employment on any other ship or on a fishing-boat;
- (c.) Employment on trains running out of Canada operated by any railway company having its head office in Canada;
- (d.) Seasonal employment, such as lumbering or harvesting, for not more than six months in any one year;
- (e.) Employment by or as a representative of a Canadian firm or corporation, or while he was himself a member of such a firm;
- (f.) Employment by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration or one of its specialized agencies; or
- (g.) Missionary work with any religious group or organization in Canada which supports missionaries abroad,— and, at the termination of such employment, he returned to Canada, he shall be presumed to have continued to reside in Canada during such absence if, during the period thereof, he had in Canada a permanent place of abode to which, whenever he was absent therefrom, he had the intention of returning, or he maintained in Canada a self-contained domestic establishment.

(2.) If an applicant, while a resident of Canada, has temporarily absented himself therefrom:—

- (a.) While he was employed and paid by the Government of Canada, or by the Government of any Province; or
- (b.) During the First or Second World War while he was a member of the forces of any country allied with Canada or was engaged in work in connection with the prosecution of any such war for Canada or its allies,— and at the termination of his duties abroad he returned to Canada, he shall be presumed to have continued to reside in Canada during such absence.

(3.) In any case provided for by subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the applicant shall, during his absence, be deemed to have lodged in that Province of Canada in which he was resident immediately prior to leaving Canada.

(4.) An applicant who is a married woman or a widow and who was absent from Canada with her husband while he was absent from Canada in any of the circumstances provided for by subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall, during the period of such absence with him, be presumed to have continued to lodge in that Province of Canada in which she was resident prior to leaving Canada.

Income.

16. In determining the income of any pensioner for the purpose of the Act, the pension authority shall take into account the amount or value of all income and contributions, whether in cash or in kind, received by the pensioner, other than:—

- (a.) Mothers' allowances paid pursuant to Provincial legislation;
- (b.) Family allowances paid pursuant to the "Family Allowances Act, 1944":

- (c.) Cost-of-living allowances or supplemental allowances paid by any Province to persons in receipt of pensions under the Act;
- (d.) Pay allotted or assigned by a member of the naval, military, or air forces of Canada, serving on active service, where no dependants' allowance has been awarded in respect of the pensioner or the spouse of such pensioner;
- (e.) Direct relief in an amount approved by the pension authority if paid out of moneys provided only by the municipality or the Province in which the pensioner resides, or by both;
- (f.) Casual gifts of small value;
- (g.) Contributions other than for ordinary maintenance to pensioners who require special care; and
- (h.) Any amount received by a pensioner in receipt of a pension in respect of blindness under the Act for the purpose of obtaining the services of a guide.

17. For the purpose of reckoning the value of the income received by a pensioner from any equity in real or personal property, other than that specified in section 16 of these regulations, owned by such pensioner at the time of making application or acquired subsequent thereto:—

- (a.) The pension authority shall, in the case of real property:—

(i.) That is used exclusively as a residence or shelter by the pensioner, consider as income an amount that, in the opinion of the pension authority, is fairly equivalent to the amount that the pensioner might reasonably be expected to pay for rent, but in fixing such amount the pension authority may, in its discretion, deduct all or any part of the cost of maintaining such property other than any payment of principal on any mortgage or agreement for sale thereon;

(ii.) That is not used exclusively as a residence or shelter by the pensioner, consider as income the net revenue that, in the opinion of the pension authority, such property should or might reasonably be expected to yield, and, if such property is revenue bearing, the pension authority may accept as the value of the income thereon the net revenue therefrom, after deducting reasonable and necessary expenses of maintaining such property, other than any payment of principal on any mortgage or agreement for sale thereon, if satisfied that such net revenue is fair and reasonable;

- (b.) The pension authority shall, in the case of personal property:—

(i.) Where the pensioner is not living with a spouse, consider as income the amount of an Immediate Canadian Government Annuity, Ordinary Life Plan, payable quarterly, purchasable with the proceeds of such personal property and calculated as of the age of seventy years in the case of an old-age pensioner (or, in the case of a blind pensioner, as of the age of forty years) and, where personal property is subsequently acquired, recalculated in such manner and as of such age;

(ii.) Where the pensioner is living with a spouse, consider as income in respect of each spouse the amount of annuity purchasable with the proceeds of the personal property of each spouse respectively and calculated as of the age of seventy years in the case of an old-age pensioner (or, in the case of a blind pensioner, as of the age of forty years) and, if the spouse is neither in receipt of nor applying for a pension under the Act, then, as of the actual age of such spouse or seventy years, whichever is the lower; and where personal property is subsequently acquired, recalculated in such manner and as of such age:

(iii.) The expression "personal property," as used in this section, shall, in the case of a pensioner not living with a spouse, mean personal property which exceeds two hundred and fifty dollars in value; and, in the case of a pensioner who is living with a spouse, means one-half the total value of the personal property jointly and severally owned by them, which exceeds two hundred and fifty dollars in value.

18. (1.) Subject as in this section provided, where the pensioner could purchase an annuity with the proceeds of personal property but fails to do so, the amount of annuity calculated as provided in paragraph (b) of section 17 of these regulations shall be considered as annual income during the life of the pensioner.

(2.) Where the pension authority has obtained satisfactory evidence that the value of the personal property of the pensioner has been reduced by payment of medical, nursing, or hospital accounts for the pensioner or his spouse or funeral expenses of the spouse, the pension authority may, in its discretion, reduce the value of such personal property at that time by the amount of such accounts and recalculate the annual income as provided by paragraph (b) of section 17 of these regulations.

(3.) Where the pensioner, while not in receipt of pension, utilizes personal property for living expenses for himself and his spouse, if any, the pension authority may, in its discretion, reduce the value of such personal property annually by an amount not in excess of the maximum income that such pensioner would otherwise be entitled to receive under the Act and, at the time pension is reinstated, recalculate the annual income as provided by paragraph (b) of section 17 of these regulations.

(4.) Where the pensioner reconverts into real property, for use exclusively as a residence or shelter by himself, personal property derived from the sale of real property held at the time his pension was granted, the pension authority may, in lieu of calculating as income of such pensioner the annuity value of the personal property so reconverted as provided in these regulations, consider as income an amount that, in the opinion of the pension authority, is fairly equivalent to the amount that the pensioner might reasonably be expected to pay for rent therefor less any deductions therefrom that the pension authority considers should be made for all or any part of the cost of maintaining such property other than any payment of principal on any mortgage or agreement for sale thereon.

19. (1.) Except as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, where an applicant is one of two spouses living together, his or her income shall be taken to be equal to one-half of the aggregate of the incomes calculated as in the Act and these regulations provided (excluding any pension payable to the spouse under the Act) received by each of them separately.

(2.) Where an applicant for an old-age pension is married to and living with a spouse not in receipt of pension under the Act, the income of the applicant shall be taken to be equal to the amount by which the aggregate of their joint incomes calculated as in the Act and these regulations provided exceeds the sum of four hundred and twenty-five dollars.

(3.) Where an applicant for a pension in respect of blindness is married to and living with a spouse not in receipt of a pension in respect of blindness under the Act, the income of the applicant shall be taken to be equal to the amount by which the aggregate of their joint incomes calculated as in the Act and these regulations provided (including any old-age pension payable to the spouse) exceeds the sum of two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Transfer of Property.

20. (1.) When the applicant has made any assignment or transfer of property exceeding in value five hundred dollars within the five years preceding the date of application, the pension authority shall require the applicant to furnish all available information with respect to such assignment or transfer of property, and from the evidence furnished shall determine whether or not such assignment or transfer was an assignment or transfer for the purpose of qualifying for a pension.

(2.) Any transfer within the provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall be presumed to have been made for the purpose of qualifying for a pension in the absence of evidence to rebut the presumption.

(3.) When, from the evidence furnished, the pension authority is satisfied that such transfer or assignment was made for the purpose of qualifying for a pension, the pension authority shall:—

(a.) Refuse to consider the granting of a pension until such time as the person to whom the property has been transferred or assigned by the applicant retransfers or reassigns the property to the applicant or property of equivalent value:

(b.) Defer the payment of pension until such time as the pensioner's equity in such property has been exhausted at the rate of the maximum income permitted by the Act, calculated from the date of such transfer or assignment, or, until the property has been retransferred or reassigned as provided in paragraph (a) of this subsection; or

(c.) Calculate the amount of an Immediate Canadian Government Annuity, Ordinary Life Plan, payable quarterly, purchasable with the proceeds of the property so assigned or transferred and, for the purpose of calculating the rate of pension, shall include the amount of any such annuity in the income of the pensioner.

When Pension shall commence.

21. (1.) Every pension shall commence on the first day of the month following the month in which the application is approved; provided that where such approval is given after the last day of the month in which the application was received by the pension authority and delay in approval has resulted from circumstances beyond the control of the applicant, the pension authority may, in its discretion, declare that such approval shall be effective as of an earlier date which shall, in no case, be prior to the first day of the month following the month in which the application was received by the pension authority, or the first day of the month following the month in which the applicant, in the case of an application for old-age pension, attains the age of seventy years (or, in the case of an application for pension in respect of blindness, attains the age of forty years), whichever is the later.

(2.) Where a pension is suspended at the request of the pensioner, the pension shall not be reinstated prior to the date on which the pensioner requests reinstatement.

(3.) No pension shall be paid for any period of more than one month during which the pensioner is receiving direct relief out of moneys provided in whole or in part by Canada.

Manner payable.

22. Pensions shall be payable monthly in arrears and shall be paid by cheque in the form approved by the pension authority.

Incapacity of Pensioner.

23. (1.) In the event of the incapacity of any pensioner through infirmity, illness, or any other cause, or, if the pension authority considers that the pensioner is using or is likely to use his pension otherwise than for his own benefit, the pension authority may pay the whole or any part of the pension of such pensioner to a trustee or trustees appointed by such pension authority to be expended for the benefit of the pensioner.

(2.) Any such trustee or trustees appointed by such pension authority may resign or be removed by the pension authority, and the pension authority may appoint another trustee or trustees in the place of the trustee or trustees resigned or removed.

(3.) Any trustee so appointed shall, when required by the pension authority, make returns showing the amount of the pension received, the amount that has been expended for the benefit of the pensioner, and the balance remaining in the hands of the trustee.

(4.) Where a pensioner is being maintained in any institution appointed as trustee for the pensioner, the pension authority shall pay to such institution the whole or such proportion of the pension as is considered by the pension authority to be a reasonable sum for the maintenance of the pensioner and may require the institution to make available to the pensioner therefrom a sum which it considers a reasonable amount for his personal use.

Suspension of Pension.

24. (1.) The payment of a pension shall be suspended:—

- (a.) During the absence of a pensioner from Canada; provided that the pension authority may continue the payment of pension for any period of absence not exceeding ninety days in any one year where, in the opinion of the pension authority, the circumstances warrant such payment:
- (b.) During any imprisonment exceeding thirty days of a pensioner convicted of an offence:
- (c.) During the confinement of a pensioner as a public charge in any public mental institution:
- (d.) During the period that a pensioner fails to comply with the provisions of the Act and these regulations, or fails to furnish to the pension authority any information that he is required to furnish.

(2.) A pension authority shall recover from a pensioner any sum improperly paid by way of pension, whether such sum was paid as the result of non-disclosure of facts, misrepresentations, or any other cause, and, if the pension authority is unable to recover the whole of such sum, the pension authority shall suspend the payment of the pension of such pensioner until the aggregate amount of the suspended payments equals the sum improperly paid less any amount that has been recovered prior to such suspension; where the pensioner has not been guilty of fraud or misrepresentation, the pension authority, in its discretion, may reduce the pension by an amount of not less than five dollars each month, so that, in a period not exceeding thirty-six months, the pension authority will recover the amount of such overpayment, but in the event of the death of the pensioner prior to such recovery, the pension authority shall file a claim against the estate of the pensioner, if any, for any balance at that time remaining unpaid.

(3.) If, after the granting of a pension, a pensioner makes any assignment or transfer of real or personal property without the approval of the pension authority, the payment of his pension may be suspended until the value of the equity of the pensioner in the real or personal property assigned or transferred has been exhausted at the rate of the maximum income permitted by the Act.

Increase or Reduction of Pension.

25. Every pensioner shall forthwith report to the pension authority any change in his financial condition or in the financial condition of his spouse.

26. Any pensioner who desires to apply for an increase of pension to which he may be entitled under the Act shall notify the pension authority and shall furnish all necessary information.

Management of Pensioner's Property.

27. Any pension authority may, if so authorized by law of the Province, and with the consent of the pensioner, assume the management of any property belonging to the pensioner.

28. The amount recovered by a pension authority from a pensioner or from the estate of a deceased pensioner in respect of any pension shall be distributed among the Province granting the pension, the Dominion, and any other Province which has reimbursed the Province granting the pension, in accordance with the amount of any such pension borne by each of them.

Accounting.

29. Any sums due by Canada to any Province in settlement of Canada's share of the net amount expended by any Province in the payment of pensions shall be ascertained as of the last day of March, June, September, and December, shall be audited by the Provincial auditor, and shall be paid on the certificate of the Provincial auditor as soon thereafter as possible, subject to final audit by the Dominion authorities.

30. In calculating the amount due by Canada to any Province, no account shall be taken of any sums that, under the provisions of the Act, such Province is liable to reimburse another Province or to be reimbursed by another Province in respect of a pension granted therein or in such other Province, nor shall any account be taken of the cost of administering or paying pensions.

31. In calculating the amount in respect of which any Province is entitled to be reimbursed by another Province under the provisions of section 10 of the Act, regard shall be had only to the net amount of the pension paid by the Province to be reimbursed after deducting therefrom the amount payable by Canada on account of such pension.

32. Balances due by one Province to another Province under the provisions of the Act shall be settled quarterly as of the same date as the sums due by Canada are payable from time to time.

33. The Minister charged with the administration of the Act may, at any time, require the Province to furnish information, detailed or otherwise, in connection with statements of account rendered by the Province, and shall have authority to order an examination, inspection, and audit of all expenditures under the Act in any Province, and the accounts with respect thereto, and the Province shall permit the inspection in such examination of all papers and documents relating to pensions payments.

Interprovincial Board.

34. The Governor in Council may appoint an interprovincial board to interpret and recommend alterations in the regulations.

PART II.

PENSIONS FOR BLIND PERSONS.

35. An applicant shall be deemed "so blind as to be unable to perform any work for which eyesight is essential" only when the visual acuity of such applicant after correction through the use of proper refractive lens, is not more than 6/60 Snellen or the field of vision in each eye is reduced to less than ten degrees.

36. The pension authority forthwith after the investigation required by subsection (1) of section 5 of these regulations is made and before approving the application, if it is satisfied that the applicant fulfils the conditions set out in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), and (e) of subsection (1) of section 8A of the Act, shall forward to the Minister the full name and address of the applicant and shall certify that the applicant has fulfilled such conditions.

37. (1.) Upon receipt of the information as provided in section 36 of these regulations, the Minister, except as provided in section 38 of these regulations, shall instruct the pension authority to have the applicant medically examined.

(2.) The pension authority shall thereupon arrange with an oculist, who has been approved by the Minister, for the examination of the applicant, and shall notify the applicant accordingly. The Minister shall pay the cost of such examination, but shall not bear the cost of transportation and living expenses incidental to such examination.

(3.) The oculist shall conduct an examination in accordance with these regulations and any instructions given by the Minister, to whom he shall forward a report thereof on forms provided for that purpose.

(4.) The Minister shall, upon receipt of such report, issue a certificate, and shall forward the same to the pension authority; the certificate shall state inter alia:—

(a.) Whether or not the applicant is blind within the meaning of the "Old Age Pensions Act" and regulations:

(b.) Whether or not the applicant is likely to continue to be blind within the meaning of the "Old Age Pensions Act" and regulations; and

(c.) The times at or before which additional medical examinations, if any, should be made to ascertain that the applicant continues to be blind within the meaning of the "Old Age Pensions Act" and regulations.

(5.) The pension authority, upon receipt of a certificate which certifies that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and regulations, may thereupon determine the rate of pension payable and approve the application in accordance with subsection (1) of section 5 of these regulations; provided that if the pension authority is not satisfied that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and regulations, it may, notwithstanding the certificate, refuse to approve such application but shall, in such event, advise the Minister, giving the reasons therefor.

38. Where the Minister has received satisfactory information that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and regulations, he may dispense with the examination required by section 37 of these regulations and forthwith issue the certificate as provided by subsection (4) thereof.

39. No pension shall be granted or paid until the Minister has certified that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and regulations.

40. No pension which has been suspended for a period in excess of six months shall be reinstated without first obtaining a certificate under section 37 or 38 of these regulations.

41. The Minister may, at any time, require an applicant or pensioner to report for medical examination and to furnish such information as he or the pension authority may from time to time require.

42. No pensioner shall solicit alms, and an applicant or pensioner who is found to have solicited alms may, in addition to any other action authorized by these regulations, be required to furnish an undertaking to desist from soliciting alms in the future.

43. For the purpose of determining the age of a child of a pensioner, regard may be had to the documents or other evidence mentioned or referred to in section 6 of these regulations.

44. For the purpose of determining whether a child of a pensioner is prevented from earning a livelihood by reason of physical or mental incapacity, the pension authority shall be guided by a certificate of a duly qualified medical practitioner.

45. (1.) Any person receiving an old-age pension under the Act may apply for a pension in respect of blindness in lieu of such old-age pension. DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS.

"LAND ACT."

Regulations regarding Permanent Survey Monuments under Section 7 of the "Land Act," as re-enacted by Chapter 49, B.C. Statutes, 1947.

THE regulations herein contained for the marking with a permanent monument of every corner or angle of a section, quarter-section, lot, or quarter-lot in the survey of Crown lands are issued under authority of clause (c) of section 7 of chapter 144, as that section was re-enacted by section 3 of chapter 49 of the Statutes of 1947.

These regulations shall come into effect three months after the first publication in The British Columbia Gazette, and shall apply to all surveys not completed before that date.

1. A permanent monument consists of one of three types of posts, as follows: (a) The standard pipe post, (b) the standard rock post, and (c) the standard concrete post, together with mounds, pits, trenches, and bearing trees as hereinafter described.

2. The standard pipe post consists of a piece of 1-inch pipe, 30 inches in length, filled with concrete. A malleable brass or bronze foot plate $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter and a bronze or brass cap 3 inches in diameter are welded to the bottom and top respectively of the pipe. It weighs approximately $7\frac{1}{2}$ lb. and is packed in wooden crates, ten posts in each, weighing about 85 lb.

The standard pipe post shall be used in all ground except where bed-rock, or a large boulder too large to be moved with the tools of a survey party, is encountered above ground, or less than 18 inches below the natural surface of the ground, or where a standard concrete post, as hereinafter described, can be planted.

The post is planted with the top of the cap flush with the surface of the ground. When bed-rock, or a boulder too large to be removed with the tools of a survey party, prevents sinking the post to the full depth of 30 inches, the foot plate is placed upon the rock, and earth and stones accumulated around the post so as to raise the surface of the ground flush with the top of the bronze cap.

3. A hole 30 inches deep has to be made for receiving the standard pipe post. After inserting the post, with the crown towards the north, the hole is filled with earth, which is tamped firmly around it. In tamping the earth, care must be taken not to strike the bronze cap. When bed-rock, or a boulder too large to be moved, is encountered more than 18 inches below the natural surface of the ground, thus preventing the digging to the full depth of 30 inches, the surface is raised, as previously explained, by gathering earth or stones around the post.

Under no circumstances is any force to be used on these posts in planting them.

4. The standard rock post is a bronze casting 3 inches in diameter, with a shank $\frac{7}{8}$ inch in diameter projecting for 3 inches from its under-side, the weight being less than 1 lb.

The standard rock post is used wherever bed-rock, or a large boulder too large to be moved with the tools of a survey party, is encountered above ground or less than 18 inches below the natural surface of the ground.

The surface of the rock is laid bare within a radius of at least 1 yard by removing and widely scattering the covering earth, so that it may not be covered again by the action of water or any other agency.

5. A hole 3 inches deep and $\frac{7}{8}$ inch in diameter has to be drilled for receiving the standard rock post. When the necessary hole has been drilled, all dirt and foreign matter is carefully removed and the hole filled with a paste made of Portland cement and water. As too much water weakens the fastening, care must be taken to make the paste just moist enough so that it will cohere if rolled into a ball by hand. The post is then inserted, with the crown towards the north, and pressed down until the cap rests upon the rock surface. Care should be taken to keep the cement moist until it sets, which is best done by putting a piece of paper over the post and then covering the paper with a large wet sod, or two or three shovelfuls of wet earth. (The quantity of cement required is small; it must be of best quality. The supply has to be protected against moisture and is best kept in a water-tight tin.)

6. The standard concrete post consists of a standard pipe post cemented into a concrete monolith 10 inches square on top, 30 inches in depth, and 18 inches square at the bottom.

The concrete monolith is cast at the site of the corner or angle by excavating to the proper size and depth, and setting the form so that the centre of the cap will be at the true position and level with the natural surface of the ground.

The forms for the concrete monoliths are to be of the dimensions and the arrangement of parts as shown.

Where suitable transportation is not available for carrying these forms, an alternative design for the concrete monolith is shown. A hole 18 inches square and 30 inches deep is dug at the site of the monument. After the standard pipe post is placed in position, the bottom 21 inches are filled with concrete. A 9-inch form is then put in place and filled with concrete, thus completing the top of the monolith in a workmanlike manner.

It is obvious that this design cannot be used in sandy or moist soils that cave in as the hole is being dug.

The concrete shall consist of a mixture of one volume of Portland cement to one and one-half volumes of sand to three volumes of $\frac{1}{4}$ - inch gravel or crushed stone, or, if sand and gravel are run-of-pit, the concrete shall consist of one volume of Portland cement to three volumes of run-of-pit mixture of sand and $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch gravel.

The Portland cement shall be the best quality and of recent manufacture. On no account shall old Portland cement or Portland cement containing lumps be used.

The sand shall be clean, sharp river-sand, free from loam and other impurities.

The gravel or crushed stone shall be clean and free from impurities.

The water shall be clean, fresh water, free from oily, acid, alkaline, organic, or saline matter.

The forms shall be well made and tight fitting, so that the water may not run out.

The Portland cement, sand, and gravel shall be thoroughly mixed and incorporated by being turned over dry several times on a clean platform and the water then added.

The concrete shall be well rammed into the forms, so that the concrete monument shall have clean, complete, sharp edges and top, and with no voids.

The form shall remain on the concrete monument for at least forty-eight hours after pouring.

After the forms are removed, the position of the centre of the cap shall be checked, then earth or stones shall be well tamped around the monolith.

Care should be taken to keep the cement damp until it sets by covering the top with a piece of paper and then covering the paper with a large wet sod, or two or three shovelfuls of wet earth.

The face of the cap of the post is to be cleaned and left free of cement.

7. The standard concrete post shall be used at all corners or angles which are accessible either by truck along highways or roads or by motor-boat along waterways. The standard concrete post is not to be used where a standard rock post can be used.

8. All mounds, pits, and trenches are of the same dimension, whether they indicate section, quarter-section, lot, or quarter-lot corners.

Whether a mound is or is not built, the centre of each of the four pits is 7 feet from the post, which is in the centre of the square formed by the four pits.

9. A corner mound is 5 feet square at the base and 30 inches high. Pits are 3 feet square and 18 inches deep.

10. At section or quarter-section corners the centre of the mound is 10 feet due south from the post.

11. At the corner of a single lot the pits are placed square to the western or the eastern boundary of the lot, as the case may be.

12. The pits on the boundary-line between two lots only, or at a corner common to two lots only, are placed square to the line.

13. At a corner common to three or more lots the pits are placed diagonally to the line running most nearly towards the north.

14. If a corner falls in water, in the bed of a stream, on an inaccessible mountain, or in any other locality unfavourable to the erection of a monument, the surveyor perpetuates such corner by a witness-monument on the surveyed line at the nearest suitable point. The distance and direction of the true corner from such witness-monument are stamped on the post. Care must be taken to indicate the bearing from the witness-post to the true corner; thus a witness-post south of the true corner is marked with the letter "N" for north.

A witness-monument must not be placed on a road allowance, public highway, or travelled road.

A witness-monument must not be erected when it is possible to make a permanent monument at the true corner.

15. The position of a monument may also be witnessed by ascertaining the bearing and distance therefrom of one or more adjacent trees where the nature of the woods is such that the trees will be permanent marks. A blaze is cut on the side of the tree facing the post, and the letters "B.T." and the distance from the post to the tree are marked on the blaze with a knife or scribing-iron. The bearing and distance from the corner to the tree are recorded in the field-notes. The size and description of the tree are also recorded.

16. A witness-trench is circular, of 6 feet inside diameter. The trench is 24 inches wide and 12 inches deep. A witness-mound is conical, 6 feet in diameter and 30 inches high.

17. A witness-post stands in the centre of the circle formed by the trench. The centre of the mound is on the line surveyed and at a distance of 10 feet from the post in the direction opposite to the corner witnessed.

18. Whether at a corner or witness monument, a stone mound is built in preference to an earth mound, when stones are available, but, except with the standard rock post, pits must be dug, also the relative positions of the post, mound, and pits being as already described.

19. Where the standard rock post is used, the pits are omitted and a stone mound is built at the place which it would occupy if the pits were built.

20. In the formation of mounds, the earth is taken from the pits or trench. They are formed of solid earth, roots and all foreign substances being excluded, and the earth well pressed down with the spade during the process.

21. When large trees or other obstacles interfere, the position of the pits relative to the direction of the lines may, when necessary, be rotated to suit circumstances, providing the line joining the centres of opposite pits shall always pass through the post, but one of the pits may be omitted when it is found impracticable to dig the four pits.

22. No monuments are to be erected in positions where they are liable to destruction; they must be placed far enough from rivers to be safe from obliteration by floods. When the site of a corner falls in an exposed position, a witness-monument must be erected.

23. Mounds or pits must not be made on a travelled road. A corner falling in such a place is indicated by a witness-monument.

24. On all surveys of Crown lands, monuments are to be built as the survey progresses and not left to be built at some future time. Every monument, after it has been erected, must be inspected by the surveyor or one of his assistants.

25. These regulations grant a practising British Columbia Land Surveyor the right to replace with a permanent monument, as herein described, any monument that requires renewing.

26. The inscription on the caps of the posts is made with steel dies. The set of seventeen dies consists of a $\frac{5}{16}$ -inch straight-line die and $\frac{3}{16}$ -inch letters "N," "S," "E," "W," "T," "R," a period, and of the figures 0 to 8, inclusive, 9 being made by turning the 6 upside down.

27. The general rule for marking a post is to stamp, in the centre, lines representing the boundary-lines passing through or ending at the post, and to mark the designation of the adjoining parcels of land in the corresponding angles.

28. If the post marks the position of a section or quarter-section, then the number of the township and range shall also be marked.

29. The surveyor shall also mark upon the cap of the post the year in which the survey was made, the number for that year which he has designated for the post as shown in the field-notes, and also at the bottom of the cap the registry number of his commission as a British Columbia Land Surveyor.

30. A supply of standard posts will be kept at the following land recording districts offices: Atlin, Kamloops, Nelson, New Westminster, Pouce Coupe, Prince George, Prince Rupert, Revelstoke, Vancouver, and Victoria.
